DANIELSON

Death of Albert W. Greenall—Investigation of Sabri Ali Murder—Continues—Arrangements for Memorial Exercises—Mission at St. James' Church—Library Loan Subscriptions Coming In.

Albert W. Greenall, a prominent citizen of the town of Killingly and for many years a public official, died Monday morning at 10 o'clock at his home in East Killingly. A general breaking down incident to his advanced years was the cause of his death.

Mr. Greenall was born in Hampton, December 21, 1827, the son of David and Prudence (Webb) Greenall, and was one of the families that long has been identified in a prominent way with the history of that town.

His early years were spent in Hampton and he studied in the schools of that town. He worked hard on a farm and built up a robust constitution that afterwards served as the background for the remarkable amount of activity that marked his long life.

Also during his early years he was a mail carrier in Hampton, riding horseback to cover his routes. His first experience in the mill business, to which he was destined to devote many years, was in his native town. Knowledge of the business gained there led to his obtaining employment at the Leffingwell at East Killingly, to which place he removed in 1846. Afterwards he was employed by other mills at East Killingly, which at that time was a very thriving textile center, and later went to work in a mill at Attawaugan.

In 1852 he became an employee of the W. A. Robinson mills at East Killingly, as overseer of the weaving department, and in 1864 was made superintendent of the plant. He remained with the Robinsons for 38 years, retiring from active business life in 1896.

During all of the years during which he was the head of the manufacturing concern at East Killingly he was ever a man in whom everyone had every confidence. He was the soul of truth and honor, a man in whom everyone

In public life he had held nearly every elective office in town and some of the most important offices serving with distinction as a representative in the legislature, session of 1876, as selectman, assessor, member of the board of relief and justice of the peace.

December 5, 1882, he united with the Free Baptist church at East Killingly and at the age of 57 years was made superintendent of its Sunday school. He was actively interested in church work and one to whom the members looked for many years for counsel and advice in the affairs of the society.

March 22, 1887, Mr. Greenall married Patience M. Barstow, a kindly Christian woman, whose death occurred December 1, 1907.

After the closing years of his life Mr. Greenall maintained his home as formerly, he being cared for by Miss

Mr. Greenall's death removes another of Killingly's grand old men, men of the kind that are the real backbone of the community.

He was a man of the highest character, for the ideals of the founders he practiced them and taught them to the enduring benefit of the people and community in which he lived.

At Plainfield Funeral.

Local relatives were at St. John's church, Plainfield, Monday morning to attend at St. John's church, the funeral service for Mrs. Cordelia F. F. Kennedy was the funeral director.

Investigating Ali Murder.

In the investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death of Sabri Ali, who was killed by shooting, one of the things that is proving of special interest to those who are making a study of the case is the exact date of death and how long transpired between the time he was shot and the time he died.

The coroner's inquest is not yet completed. During the present week the state police will continue to work on the case. What progress they are making in certain phases of their investigation is not known, but it is understood they have found some things of special interest to them.

May Basket Party.

School friends of Helen E. Aylward gave a May basket party in her honor Monday evening at her home on Academy street. Refreshments were served and games were played.

Florists' Busy Week.

Florists were rushed Monday and have been keeping them on the jump today filling Memorial Day orders. The backward spring has delayed the development of many flowers, making it more difficult than usual for many people to get bouquets outside the florist shops.

Library Loan Subscriptions.

Banks here are receiving subscriptions for Library Bonds. While some of the larger denominations have been subscribed for, the bulk of the subscriptions being obtained here is for bonds of the smaller denominations.

Memorial Day Programs.

Tomorrow, following the custom of years, there will be a Memorial Day procession in Danielson, the line for it at 9:30 in Main street, near the R. Hall in the Keystone block. The procession will proceed to the town hall, where a formal programme of exercises will be carried out. After the exercises at the hall the line will again be formed and will proceed to the soldiers' monument at Davis park, where a ceremony will take place. From the monument the procession will go to Westfield cemetery, thence to St. James' cemetery, decorating the graves of the soldier dead.

Mission Services.

During the mission of the English-speaking people of St. James' parish this week the mission masses will be at 8 o'clock, with short instructions after each mass. The evening services, rosary, sermon and benediction, open at 7:30.

All About the Borough.

Raymond A. Preston, who is going to France with the Brown University unit, has visited at his home here.

Harry C. Hudson of Hartford was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Monday.

Attorney Harry E. Back is to speak at a patriotic meeting to be held in Canterbury.

Thousands of employees in mills hereabouts will begin to get the benefits of the recently announced increase in wages on and after next Monday.

Judge W. F. Woodward presided at a session of the town court on Monday morning.

Tomorrow, Memorial Day, mills and banks in this town will be closed, and business generally will be suspended for the day.

The sixty men who make up Danielson's home guard company will have one of their weekly drills at the state armory this evening.

Charles Seder's Loss in Burglary Over $250—Ten Best Suits for Men Taken—Hugh Rice Going to France—Death of Calvin Arnold—Miss Tebbutt to Campaign for Community Nurse.

Inventories made at the store of Charles Seder Monday showed that his loss through the burglary committed during the early hours of Sunday morning was much heavier than at first supposed. With the checking of different lines not completed Monday afternoon, the loss then found amounted to more than $250.

Checking of the suits for men showed that ten of the best ones had been taken. These suits were hanging on a rack near the front part of the store, a long rack with scores of other suits upon it. The burglars had taken the trouble not to disturb the appearance of the arrangement of the suits and hidden the hangers underneath the row of suits on the lower arm of the rack, where they were not found until after noon.

Mr. Seder says that the suits taken are of the 37, 38, 39 and 40 sizes. Two suit cases are also missing, and Mr. Seder believes that these were used to carry away ladies' shirtwaists and small articles selected at random through the store.

Mr. Seder talked rather forcefully Monday afternoon of the experience he has been having with burglars during the last year and a half. His review of breaks made here in a little more than a year shows that they number more than a score.

Investigation about the Bradley building in which the store is located, showed on Monday that the burglars made an attempt to get into the Donotte store, by the rear entrance, and that they also had used a screw driver in an attempt to pry open a window at the nearby garage in which Joseph Kelle keeps his car.

Hugh Rice Going to France.

Friends here learned Monday that Hugh Rice is going to France as one of the male nurses that will make up a medical unit of the United States army.

Dr. Arthur H. Ruggles, superintendent of the Butler hospital at Boston, is to take this unit.

Mr. Rice is the son of John Rice of the River road, and is expected to visit at his home here within a day or two.

Mr. Rice is a young man who has had a variety of rather trying experiences during the past two and a half years. About that time ago he was badly injured in a runaway accident on Pomfret hill.

He remained in the hospital for a long time, and it was thought at one time that he would never be able to walk again, but he fully recovered the use of his legs.

After recovery he went to the Butler hospital and took the training course for nurses, afterwards going to the Boston City hospital to supplement his training.

When a call for medical units to go to the Mexican border was sent out last summer, the time of the reshaping expedition into Mexico he enlisted in the service and went to the border, remaining there for some time.

Upon his return he was recuperating for a time and then went back to Boston, where he remained for a while. He always has his nerve with him, it is attested by the fact that while doing hospital work he was once bitten by a typhoid fever germ that a new serum to prevent the disease might be tried out, and his offer was accepted and the experiment made.

Anxious to do something for his country, he has offered to be accepted as a member of the medical unit mentioned, with good luck, will be in France in the near future.

Patriotic Night at Grange.

Monday night was patriotic night at the meeting of Putnam grange, and the attendance included representatives of the G. A. R., the W. V. C., other patriotic societies in town and of the military organizations doing guard duty here.

Patriotic songs were sung and the program was of an inspiring nature.

With flags of the United States, flags of all of the allies were used effectively in the decorations of the hall.

The Maxwell Is Mechanically Right We Waited Four Years To Say That

The makers of the Maxwell spent four years in developing the car. Patient, persistent, scientific refinement of one model—that was the method. An automobile that beats the world for endurance, efficiency, economy—that's the result.

You know the old story about the race between the hare and the tortoise:

—how the hare skipped about the fields—nibbled clover tops—cut all kinds of capers, trying to "show off";
—how the tortoise stuck to his job—stayed in the middle of the road—kept on going—and won the race;
—you know that story and its moral.
